IMMENSE CROWDS LISTENED TO SIR WILFRID SPEAK TODAY

PREMIER SPOKE GRATEFULLY OF FACT THAT ALL PARTIES AND CREEDS WERE UNITING TO MAKE CANADA'S PROGRESS SU RE—CIVIC ADDRESS WAS READ BY MAYOR LEE—CROWD CHEERED FOR THE KING AND LAURIER.

The crowds opposite the Yale Hotel waiting to see the presentation of the Civic address and hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier reply this morning were so great that the police were scarcely able to keep a lane clear big enough for the procession to pass through. Large numbers of people were seen in the procession had left First Street, went straight to the Yale so that there was an enormous crowd opposite the platform erected there long before the arrival of Sir Wilfrid.

At last the head of the procession came in sight, the crowd straining over each other's shoulders to catch a glimpse of the Premier as the carriages with the guard of honor drew up before the entrance.

Sir Wilfrid with Mayor Lee at once ascended to the platform and took their seats.

On the platform were many of the prominent men of Edmonton—the members of the legislative body and members of the council—Col. Edwards, Commissioner Bouillon, Mr. Charles May, Dr. Forin, Senator Roy, Mr. Hotchkiss, the Hon. C. W. Cross, as well as the Hon. C. P. Graham, F. P. Paré and E. M. McDonald.

Mayor Lee then read the address which was as follows:

CIVIC ADDRESS
To the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G.C.M.G., P.C., Premier of Canada.

"As citizens of Edmonton we sincerely rejoice at having the privilege of welcoming you to our growing city. Irrespective of creed, origin or party ties we throw our gates wide open to you and with one voice and heart express our delight in seeing with you to-day one whom we have come to regard as being in fact as well as in name the first citizen of Canada.

For fourteen years you have directed the affairs of state in this young Dominion of ours and so directed them that our marvelous progress has become a matter of pride to ourselves and of wonder to the outside world. A few years ago Canada was little and unknown. In thought of the majority of outside people it was a region hard, iron bound and cold where the wind from Thule freezes the work upon the lips; but now not only are the thousands of her sons whom lean years have drawn with reluctant hearts from their native shores, returning with bounding steps but countless numbers of others who are well to us by no means of patriotism are seeking with eagerness the privilege of making a man and justifying for themselves in the fair fields and free air of our Dominion. From the depths of our hearts we congratulate you on the growth of our trade and commerce, upon the enactment of such laws and fostering of such institutions as tend to make a free and happy people. We firmly believe that you have ever sought to administer the government of our Dominion in such a way as will advance all the interests of a growing people. You have been, we believe, not only a successful party leader, but also—that which is more significant in the making of a nation—a broad minded optimistic statesman.

"Your relationship with your own people have always been most happy and helpful, and your attitude to all matters of international and imperial interest and your conduct in connection with them have been so wise and worthy as to lift the nation you represented to an enviable position in the councils of our empire and the interested nations. A very few years have slipped away since you last honored us with your presence. Now then the citizens of Edmonton have spared neither money nor energy in their effort to make this city in every way worthy of being the capital of the province whose inauguration your presence graced on that occasion. You will, no doubt, see many things in this city which might be improved. Many things will be brought to your careful consideration, but amidst it all we wish to-day to assure you with no uncertain sound that we are one with you in your splendid effort to make our beloved Dominion the first and richest gem in the crown of the British empire.

"In closing permit us to say that while many illustrious acts will long perpetuate your name in Canadian history, we, as citizens have decided to show our appreciation of you and your untiring interest in our welfare by giving your distinguished name to a beautiful park overlooking the broad waters of the noble Saskatchewan River in the west end of our city, and by this act we wish the title 'Laurier Park' to be a constant reminder to our people, young and old, of your history-making premiership.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Edmonton,
(Signed) ROBERT LEE
Mayor,
F. M. C. CROSSKILL,
Secy.-Treas.

Laurier's Reply
When the presentation had been made a sudden quiet fell over the crowd wedged tight in front of the platform. Sir Wilfrid rose to reply. "When I look over this sea of faces and see the hundreds here to welcome me to the capital of your province, with no distinction of races or creeds, I want to thank you all fellow citizens, I want to thank the Mayor, the council, the legislative body, the militia who have attended, for meeting me here on the common ground of fellow-ship.

It is the basis of the British constitution that the government represents the people. I am a party man so are all on this platform, but heeding not the merits of either party no matter what their creed, we all meet on the common ground, in that we all agree in aiming for the welfare of Canada. I

On Parade—and Off it

All Edmonton was on the street this morning to see the parade and of course the principal mark of interest the Prime Minister. At every corner where the procession made a turn even in the residential sections there were large crowds of people more or less noisy but all eager to show their respect for the nation's first gentleman.

The parade lined up at the selected hour, but did not leave the hotel until shortly after 10.30 o'clock. Sir Wilfrid arrived at the hotel about 10.30 from the Bank of Montreal, where he is staying, the guest of Manager Pardee. He was accompanied from the bank by Hon. A. L. Sifton and Mayor Lee.

Prior to the start of the parade, the Prime Minister held an informal reception in the rotunda of the hotel, when he shook hands with a number of his acquaintances.

As the premier again took his place in the carriage, which was drawn by four horses, and decorated with flags, the guard of honor, consisting of a detachment of the 10th A. M. R., made a general salute and then dividing, one half being placed before the premier's carriage and the rest at the rear.

The premier was accorded a splendid ovation as his carriage rounded Jasper avenue, and at the same point again on his return. All the way up the street, there was much fluttering of handkerchiefs and waving of flags, which Sir Wilfrid responded with graceful bows, while his sunny smile was continually in evidence.

As the premier's carriage was going beneath the arch at the corner of Jasper avenue and Fourth street, it was brought to a stop and little Miss Joanne Tessier, daughter of Mr. Oscar Tessier, advanced to the carriage, assisted by an attendant, who opened the carriage door. The little lady then very gracefully presented a beautiful bunch of carnations to the premier, who looked agreeably surprised. He accepted the flowers, and then, taking her in his arms, he kissed her, and with a smile assisted her to alight to the ground.

A feature of the parade were the half breeds from Lac Ste. Anne which were led by Mr. Peter Gunn, M.P.P. Part of the breeds were mounted, some using saddles and others riding bare back, with a rope for a rein.

Quite a number of the breeds were of type, and presented some very peculiar types. Some were jet black hair half way down their backs together with bushy beards, and with their shaggy gait, made more grotesque by their shaggy manes, they presented a unique sight. At the rear of the procession were an additional number of breeds, who were riding on buckboard vehicles, some of which also carried a number of the breeds were of type, and presented some very peculiar types. They were all decorated with flags in honor of the "cheap big white chief."

The fire brigade made a splendid ap-

FELL OFF BICYCLE.

Adolph Newman in Painful Accident—Leg Likely Broken.

At 1.15 this afternoon a man named Adolph Newman fell off his bicycle opposite the Pendennis Hotel and seriously injured his leg. The ambulance from No. 2 station was quickly on the scene and the man was removed to the City Hospital. The hospital authorities are not certain as yet whether his leg is broken or not, the man being in too great pain for them to make any serious examination. It seems that he ran up against the curb and fell off, getting his leg twisted in some manner in the machine.

THIRTEEN KILLED TWELVE INJURED

Passenger Train Struck by Special Engine On Californian Line

TELESCOPED THE SMOKER

Most of Those Injured Were In It—Occurred at Sharp Curve

Ignacio, Cal., Aug. 9.—Thirteen persons were killed and at least twelve were injured tonight when a passenger train bound from San Francisco to Santa Rosa on the North Western Pacific Railway was struck by a special locomotive and a caboose south of Ignacio. Most of those injured were riding in the smoking car. The wreck occurred at a sharp curve. The passenger train was travelling forty miles an hour and the locomotive and caboose were also going at good speed. At the offices of the train dispatcher it was said that one of the conductors had made a mistake in his orders and failed to take a siding. The baggage car and smoking car were telescoped.

When the dazed passengers made their way out of the rear coaches unharmed they went to the assistance of thirty passengers in the smoking car who were caught among the broken seats and splintered timbers and those who were not killed, were unable to help themselves.

Asked for Government Controlled Elevators, Assistance in Child Meat Industry, and Other Things

A delegation from the United Farmers Association had an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the board of trade rooms on noon today and presented resolutions requesting that the government acquire and control terminal elevators, that assistance be given by the government in the advancement of a child meat industry, that if the Hudson Bay Railroad is built that it be owned and operated by the government, that legislation be passed permitting the operation of co-operative stores, and finally, that the government take up the question of

Civic Deputation and One From the Retail Merchants Waited on Premier

Among the many deputations that waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier there was only one that asked nothing. Peter Gunn, M.P.P., introduced Chief Samson, of Samson's Band, Hobkiss Indians, who accompanied by an interpreter, had come a long distance to present the Premier with a handsome tobacco sack. Hon. Frank Oliver received a pair of beaded gauds.

Sir Wilfrid asked, in his winning way, if the chief expected anything in return. Samson replied "that Sir Wilfrid was far too elevated to ask for anything."

Civic Deputations.

Mayor Lee and Ald. Garpey spoke for the civic deputation which consisted of the speakers with Ald. Armstrong, Ald. Landy, Ald. McKibbey and Messrs. F. H. Wilson, Frank Sommerville, Allan Sloan, C. E. Perkins and Pres. McGeorge of the Board of Trade.

They asked for the removal of the penitentiary to a suitable site outside the city limits, the said site and all costs of re-building to be borne by the city, a central location for the land office, and to have suitable abutments provided to stop the crumbling away and sliding of the river bank. In conclusion Mayor Lee and Ald. Garpey endorsed the request of Winnipeg for a Dominion grant for the Centennial Exposition in 1914.

Would Look into Request.

Sir Wilfrid assured the deputation that Hon. Frank Oliver had already presented resolutions dealing with that and on his return to Ottawa the matters would be thoroughly threshed out.

Geo. B. McLeod and C. R. Palmer on behalf of the Young Liberal Club, presented the resolution dealing with the child meat question and the tariff

Retail Merchants

A deputation from the Edmonton Retail Merchants, consisting of Messrs. Burnett, Davies, Webb and Douglas, presented a resolution against the proposed co-operative legislation. Mr. Burnett, speaking for the deputation, claimed that it was unfair to allow men to compete on equal terms with the merchants who have been put to heavy expense.

In reply, the Premier stated that the principle of Co-operation has proved of immense value, and any laws that would be passed in regard to co-operation would be so framed that they would show no favor to anybody.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR WAS STANDING ON PROMENADE DECK OF STEAMER JUST BEFORE SAILING FOR A HOLIDAY IN EUROPE WHEN ASSASSIN SHOT HIM IN THE HEAD, JUST BEHIND THE RIGHT EAR—MAN WHO DID SHOOTING, ARRESTED, SAID "HE TOOK AWAY MY BREAD AND BUTTER FROM ME"—BELIEVED TO BE CRAZY.

New York, Aug. 9.—Mayor Wm. J. Gaynor, of New York, was shot and probably fatally wounded on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, as he was sailing for Europe. His assailant, who was not identified, was arrested.

Was Talking to Friend
The Mayor was standing forward on the upper deck talking with Commissioner Thompson, Corporation Counsel Watson and his secretary, Mr. Adamson, when he was attacked. The vessel was preparing to leave its docks at Hoboken for its trans-Atlantic voyage. Mayor Gaynor was taken to St. Mary's Hospital and it is reported he is dead.

Bullet Entered the Head
The bullet entered the head behind the left ear and ploughed its way straight in. The Mayor was bareheaded at the time and was standing on the fore-part of the cabin deck bridge, saying goodbye to friends. The assailant was apparently a foreigner and appears to be demented. According to another report the shot fired struck Mayor Gaynor in the head, he was walking on the promenade deck of the steamer when the shot was fired. Doctors were immediately rushed in from Manhattan to the scene of the tragedy at Hoboken steamship pier.

Starting on Holidays
Mayor Gaynor was about to start on a month's vacation abroad. He was to go unaccompanied for a trip of two weeks in Northern Europe.

He was looking forward to a well-earned rest for he has been at his desk in the office from twelve to fourteen hours a day for many months.

Cannot Stop Hemorrhages
New York, Aug. 9, 11.30.—At this time the Mayor's condition is not so favorable. The doctors are having trouble in controlling the hemorrhages. Blood from the wound finds its way into the throat and cheeks of the sufferer from time to time. The bullet has been located about an inch below the right ear.

Gave Reason for Deed
New York, Aug. 9.—The man who shot Mayor Gaynor gave his name as James Gallagher, 640 Third ave., New York City. When asked why he had shot the mayor, Gallagher said: "I robbed me of my bread and butter." Gallagher was taken to the adjacent police station and arraigned. It is ascertained that Gallagher was employed as a watchman in the department of docks up to June 1st.

Another Was Wounded
New York, Aug. 9.—It has just been learned that street cleaning commissioner Wm. Edwards was also wounded, but not seriously by bullets intended for Mayor Gaynor.

Made a Signed Statement
Gallagher made the following signed confession to Robert W. Bell, acting chief of police of Hoboken: "I came over to Hoboken at 9.20 this morning. I went to the pier and on board the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. I met a clergyman on board and I asked him to point out Mayor Gaynor to me. He did so and shortly after, I fired a shot at the mayor. I don't know if I fired more than one shot. Knowing that Mayor Gaynor was going to Europe this morning to enjoy himself, as depriving me of my bread and butter, not porterhouse, I was irritated to the point of committing gibe act. The revolver you have shown me is the revolver that I did the shooting at the Mayor with. I do not know how many shots were in the revolver when I used it. I have had this revolver a long time in my possession. I carried it when I was in the employ of the city."

Gallagher seemed remarkably cool while making this statement to which he affixed his signature.
May Not Be Serious
New York, Aug. 9.—The doctors report that they do not believe Mayor Gaynor's wound to be serious. Their examination shows that the bullet entered the right side of the neck and did not cut any of the important blood vessels. The Mayor suffered somewhat from some gathering of blood in his throat, but this was relieved and he felt considerably better.

New York, Aug. 9.—Opening business in the stock market was neglected in the excitement of the news of Mayor Gaynor's attempted assassination.

Prices moved sluggishly and irregularly with small gains the more numerous. Canadian Pacific advanced 2 1/4 on the dividend increase.

Pittsburgh C. C. and St. Louis rose 1/4, and Northern Pacific 3/4; Amalgamated Copper declined 3/4.

30,000 IN PARADE
Chicago, August 9.—To-day's parade of Knights Templars composed of 30,000 uniformed men and covering 43 blocks was scheduled to last from 10 a.m. till 3 p.m. Twenty-five commissary wagons were employed to distribute sandwiches. Before the sandwiches were loaded on the wagons they were thoroughly inspected by Knute W. A. Evans, City Health Commissioner.

TOM SMITH GOOD TO THE ESKIMOS

Regina Claims he Favored Deacon's Crew, But Then, We Won Game 3-2

Regina, Aug. 9.—Amateurish umpiring by Tom Smith a former pitcher, spoiled an otherwise high class ball game this evening. Gilchrist pitched a beautiful game and deserved to win. Three Regina men were called out of the plate and two of the decisions were so flagrantly bad there was hardly room for argument. Hickey was his hard throughout. Score:

WORLD'S TROTTER RECORD

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—The opening of the second annual meeting at North Randall track and the third week of grand circuit racing today was characterized by the breaking of a world's record. Uhlman, driven by his owner, C. K. G. Neillings, trotted a mile in 2:01 flat, setting a new mark for trotting geldings. It was apparent that the son of Bingen and Blonde was out to make history when the first quarter was passed and the board showed his time to be 30%. When the half and three quarter poles were passed and the black had not faltered for an instant, the big crowd stood up and begged him to beat his old mark of 2:02 1/4. He responded nobly, clipping one and three fourths seconds off.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The players of both the Calties A and B teams are required to be on time on Wednesday night. It was touch and go at Friday's game. An hour and three minutes and the referee would have had to call the game off to be replayed over again. It is imperative that the players get there on time. The ground management have got to business and had all the grass cut. It certainly was hard on the players of both the St. Georges and Calties when they had to play the game in the long grass that was left uncut on the south side of the field. The game is sure to be a fast one. Last night the Calties B. were hard at it practicing on the old exhibition grounds. They are out to win, and are leaving nothing out that will affect their chances. We noticed their dashing left wing going it pretty strong. They will take some stopping on the fast diamond ground. It is to be hoped that the A. team can have their usual strong back support. From the reports that are going around the Calties A camp the chances are pretty small, both the backs still being under the weather.

JURY'S VERDICT.

The inquest on the body of Walter Watts, who was found with his brains blown out near the Stony Plain Trail, was adjourned yesterday until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in order to obtain further evidence. Dr. Hyslop examined the body yesterday and expressed the opinion that he had been dead four or five days, his brains having been forced out in a manner which suggested a gunshot wound. He was identified as Watts by a man named James Quinlan, but who did not know his first name. According to Quinlan, Watts was of a genial disposition and not given to worrying.

A verdict of suicide was brought in by the jury yesterday afternoon enquiring into the death of a man supposed to be D. C. Tiffany of Edenville, Alta., who was found hanging by a chain a short distance from the street car line at Twenty-first Street.

G. W. Mozier, proprietor of the ice cream stand on Twenty-first street said that he saw the deceased on Saturday evening about 8 o'clock when he seemed to be in a melancholy mood. On Sunday again he saw him in the hush at what seemed to be devotional exercises to which he paid no attention.

J. D. Nicholson, of the R.N.W.M.P., said that he received a telephone message and hurrying to the place he found the man hanging to a tree.

He placed a man in charge and sending for Dr. Forin, he searched the dead man's pockets, finding $33.40 a watch and a slip of paper with D. C. Tiffany Edenville, Alta., written on it.

Dr. Hyslop, after his examination, said that there was a mark on the neck which had evidently been made some time previously to the mark made by the chain, which looked like the mark of a rope which had made a cut right through to the wind pipe. The general appearance of the body he said suggested strangulation, and the time the body had been lying there about thirty hours.

Game Resulted in a Tie 4-4, Large Sum Realized for Injured Player

Moose Jaw, Aug. 9.—Brown pitched a good game against Calgary tonight. Gehan had excellent support and some extra base hits were pulled down to singles. The Robins could not hit in a row until the last. Yet ten hits were made off Gehan. In the afternoon a benefit game was played for Left Fielder Irbey of the Robins. Gehan, who had his leg broken in the last series with Calgary. The locals won 7 to 2. Before the game racing and other events were held by the players of both teams for which prizes were given. Over $500 was realized for Irbey.

KENT CLUB LEADS

Has Commanding Margin in English County Cricket Race

By their victories over Sussex and Derbyshire, Kent have now such a commanding lead in the contest for the championship that they must show a great falling off in form or be the victims of some unusual run of bad luck if they fail to again win the championship.

So far the new scheme of reckoning has proved as first the old scheme. So far as first place is concerned, the last side seems to come out on top under all schemes, and it will hardly be disputed that, on form, Kent are the best country side. They are consistently excellent, and the same cannot be said of any other side.

As to the other positions in the table Lancashire would at present be the prettiest (Kent being about 80 per cent, while Middlesex (50 per cent.) would be third, Yorkshire (33.33 per cent.) fourth, Sussex (20 per cent.) fifth; Norths (11.11 per cent.) eighth.

The penalty of the draw may under some circumstances be unjust, but the new scheme has assuredly induced enterprise and brighter cricket, by the premium which it places on it.

The results given are received by the last English mail:

WHAT HAPPENS
I speak of men—a host of men—and you and I know many such. Whose word is nil within their houses, whose law does not amount to much.

They're humble, meek and silent, too; their better halves control them quite. And will not let them spend a cent or wander with the boys at night.

But once in every little while a man like this will break away, evade his wife and "cut it loose," and "whoop it up" till break o' day!

But, oh, the price that they must pay. It quite reminds us, if you please, That Solomon with all his wisdom, was not arraigned like one of these!

BIRMINGHAM'S BAD SEASON
London Sportsman: At the annual meeting of the Birmingham Football Club last night a loss on last season of £2,396 was shown. The chairman, Mr. Wm. Adams, said that they had had a disastrous season, and personally he felt sure that some of the players had been tampered with—that is to say, they had been induced not to play to win. They had signed on several new men, including, in addition to those already published, Foxall of Sheffield Wednesday and Gallimore of Sheffield United.

Mr. Walter Hart described the report as the most appalling ever issued. The club had actually paid more money to players than Aston Villa had played to their players, who had won the championship of the First League.

A more reckless waste of money in managing a football club had never been known.

Mr. Harry Morris contended that the players were not good enough for the purpose. Three of their heavily salaried players were now working on the local teams. (Laughter.) Messrs. Walter Hart, Cant and Mr. Adams were appointed directors and Mr. Adams was elected president.

TONY CAPONI WON
Winnipeg, Aug. 9.—Tony Caponi of Chicago, forced Arthur McLaughlin of Australia to quit in the sixth round of what was scheduled to be a round mid last night. Caponi punished his heavier opponent pretty severely and a stiff right to the wind in the sixth took all the fight out of him. Caponi weighed 158, McLaughlin 185.

There is pleasure in being mad when none but madmen know.—Dryden.

Schaefer, Saskatoon, right field.
Krueger, Winnipeg, second base.
Smith, Calgary, third base.
Beatty, Winnipeg, first base.
Spencer, Edmonton, short stop.
Crocker, Moose Jaw, centre field.
Lynch, Lethbridge, catcher.
Pitchers: Collins, Winnipeg; Dellar, Edmonton; Heinrich, Brandon, and Skeels, Regina.

BURT VS. MAXWELL
On Friday next these two clever light weights will meet in the Strathcona opera house and go 15 rounds.

Burt will be in the squared circle and if Maxwell gets the decision he will deserve all the credit that is going.

Burt is working out daily in his gym, and is being prepared for the contest by his brother Myand, who is a middleweight wrestler.

Young Maxwell has established his training camp in Strathcona, and is training himself by ten miles on the road every day, combined with boxing in his gym. He has some hard battles to his credit, having fought a 15 round draw with Lauder and losing to Frank Carroll, one of the cleverest fighters in the east, in 11 rounds.

Carroll is a much heavier man than Maxwell and had his troubles all through the fight.

Good preliminaries are being arranged and lovers of clean boxing will make no mistake in journeying to Strathcona on Friday next. First preliminaries at 9:30.

Hon. G.P. Graham, F.F. Pardee, M.P. and E.M. MacDonald M.P. Were Banqueted Last Night

CANADA'S GREAT DESTINY—NOT EAST, NOR WEST, BUT ONE

Stirring Address by E. M. MacDonald at a Dinner Last Night

GIVEN BY MARITIMERS

Hon. Frank Oliver and Senator William Gibson Were There, Too

"We must not talk of the needs of the west, we must not talk of the needs of the east, but of the needs of the whole of Canada. If the needs of the west are to be gratified, or if the needs of the east are to be gratified, it must be because it is in the interest of Canada as a whole."

Such was the keynote of a patriotic address made by E. M. MacDonald, K.C., member of parliament for Pictou, N.S., at the banquet given in his honor by the former residents of the Maritime Provinces, now living in Edmonton, at the King Edward Hotel last night.

Mr. MacDonald, in replying to the toast, "Our Guest," said particularly to the attention to the existent antagonism between east and west, "Broad Canadianism" was his theme.

Mr. MacDonald led up to his remarks in that connection by an eloquent eulogy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

To Assist Western Canada

"The present tour which is being made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier," said Mr. MacDonald, "is the most unique that has ever been undertaken in Canadian history. The object of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in making this tour is to study conditions out here, to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the newer types of citizens and to familiarize himself with the country so that he may know better what is needed to assist western Canada in its march to the goal of prosperity."

"Everyone admires Sir Wilfrid Laurier, no matter what a person's political proclivities may be. He is the greatest man with the greatest idea of Canadianism of any other personage in the history of our country, and he takes the greatest pride in the development of the west."

The Guests of Honor

The banquet was most successful in every detail and was attended by about seventy former Maritime residents. Mr. D. H. MacKinnon acted as toast master, while at his right sat the guest of honor, Mr. MacDonald, and on his left sat Hon. Frank Oliver. Other guests at the chairman's table were: Hon. C. R. Mitchell, Hon. Senator Gibson, Judge Taylor, Captain Grant, Sheriff Robertson, and Messrs. John Ross, and William Brown.

After the conclusion of a very sumptuous repast, the program of speeches was commenced.

The toast to His Majesty The King was honored with the singing of the National Anthem.

The Maritimers

Mr. F. A. Morrison, of Yegreville, replying to the toast to New Brunswick, stated that it was always fair weather when good fellows got together and that it was especially the case when a number of natives of the Maritime Provinces were assembled. He made an eloquent reference to the ties of blood which bind each of the sons of the three Maritime Provinces to their native soil, and that it was only by means of that, that the capital of Alberta was bridged. Continuing in that strain, Mr. Morrison said that in the old battles against political tyranny the sons of New Brunswick had fought as well as the sons of the other provinces of the country, and that New Brunswick still had men of the same calibre as of those days of strife and turmoil, and that the sons of New Brunswick's sons were still the same. Mr. Morrison pointed out a number of celebrated personages in Canadian history who claim New Brunswick as their birthplace. "New Brunswick's principal contribution to the way of men, are ministers and college presidents," said Mr. Morrison.

Produces Right Kind of Stuff

Mr. E. B. Williams, who spoke on behalf of Prince Edward Island, admitted that his native province was small in size, but that it was large in its own idea of importance, and if nothing else, in the dignity of its inhabitants. That was the only way the name of the province could be kept before the people of the country.

It was said some time ago," said Mr. Williams, "that Prince Edward Island was nothing but a 1,000,000 acre farm, and that's what it is. But it is a good thing when the 1,000,000 acres farm produces the right kind of stuff."

Mr. Williams claimed the credit for the fact of being the place where the base was laid for confederation. "It sprouted from the Charlottetown conference," said the speaker, "and in 1867 it was consummated at Quebec. Therefore Prince Edward Island is the father or mother of confederation—I don't know which."

The Bluesones

Mr. Aubrey Fullerton in his address on behalf of Nova Scotia, spent most of his time in pointing out the "Nova Scotianess of Nova Scotia," by which he meant that the province had some distinctive features which set it apart from the rest of the provinces and in fact from any other place in the world. He also spoke of the charm of Nova Scotia history and regretted that out in the west there were no traditions such as there were in his native province. "In the legislative buildings at Halifax," he said, "there is a room which is full of antique and musty documents, which contain much in the way of tradition, and I am sorry that there is not some of that mustiness out here."

Mr. Fullerton was full of optimism for the future of Nova Scotia, and stated that the best days in the history of that province were ahead of it and that in twenty-five years a most remarkable change for the better could reasonably be expected.

At this point Mr. Alfred McIsaacs favored the gathering with two splendidly rendered vocal solos, receiving liberal applause.

Toasted Guest of Honor

Mr. MacKinnon in proposing the toast to "Our Guest," stated that he did so with small amount of personal gratification, and made a brief eulogy of Mr. MacDonald.

The toast was honored amid enthusiasm, and the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow."

Mr. MacDonald's Reply

On rising to reply, Mr. MacDonald uttered his thanks for the great honor done him in the arranging of the banquet for him. He felt sure, however, that it was not so much in his honor as it was to take advantage of an opportunity for a reunion of former residents of the Maritime Provinces. He said that although the west was very alluring, he was perfectly satisfied with life in the east, and that he was taking a philosophic view of things and was taking life easy.

Everybody in the Maritime Provinces was satisfied with their conditions, he said, and even if they could not raise such a fine crop of grain they have the fish in the Atlantic, so that the honors were about equal.

The people at the Maritime Provinces had watched with interest the careers of all those who had left their homes to come west in quest of fortune, and that they were proud of their various achievements in their new world.

Mr. MacDonald expressed the opinion that the Maritime Provinces produced the best Canadian, and said Mr. MacDonald, "unless you have breadth of view and charity towards the opinions of others, and that's what we have down near the Atlantic."

Mr. MacDonald then proceeded to laud the many historical characters which have come out of the Maritime Provinces, paying particular tribute to Sir Charles Tupper, who, although of opposite political inclinations, was a greater man than even his friends believed.

Canada's Great Destiny

"That Canada was destined to play an important part in imperial politics was one of Mr. MacDonald's contentions, and he estimated that within twenty-five years Canada will have a population of an equal number of millions. South Africa, and New Zealand will also be prominent factors in working out the destiny of the empire."

Hon. Frank Oliver Speaks

The names of Hon. Frank Oliver and Senator Roy were mentioned with the toast to the Dominion Parliament, which was honored while the orchestra played the "Maple Leaf Forever." At the beginning of his address, Hon. Mr. Oliver informed the gathering that what he had to say would be considered one of the smartest of the contingent of members from the maritime provinces. He then proceeded to express his misfortune in not having been born in one of the eastern provinces. However, he said that he concurred with all the previous speakers in their opinions of maritime people generally. Mr. Oliver endorsed what Mr. MacDonald had said in regard to Canadianism, but he begged the liberty of stating that in his opinion the Canadian spirit was already developed in the west, and it is only necessary for a western man to say that he is a Canadian for a person to know the depth of his pride in so being.

Going to the States

In speaking of the maritime provinces, Mr. Oliver stated that the only thing to be regretted was that many of the young men of the eastern provinces were leaving to seek their fortunes on the southern side of the boundary line instead of staying on the north, and he hoped that the visit of Mr. MacDonald would help to remedy that evil by diverting them to the west.

He took exception to a statement made by Mr. MacDonald in which the latter had referred to Edmonton as an outpost of empire, and said that was exactly the opposite. It was the gateway of empire in that there was more Canada behind it than there was behind any other city in the country.

Senator Gibson confined his remarks mostly to a few anecdotes about famous men who hailed from the maritime provinces. Senator Gibson stated that the last time he was in Edmonton was sixteen years ago and that he saw a wonderful change since then.

The toast to Alberta was responded to by the Hon. C. R. Mitchell, attorney-general of the province. Mr. Mitchell was given a very hearty reception.

Hon. C. R. Mitchell Replies

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Mitchell drew attention to the waste of natural gas in the northern part of the province, stating that it was rather shameful that some means could not be found to conserve one of the province's best assets. He extended a welcome to Mr. MacDonald on behalf of the government and also to the city, in the absence of any city officials. Speaking of traditions, Mr. Mitchell said that Alberta had a few, although they were not very old. The old stories of the Hudson's Bay company and the opening up of the country which followed that company's operations was now a matter of history. Moreover, traditions in Alberta were in the making.

The toast to the press was responded to by Mr. J. C. Walsh, of the Montreal Herald, who spoke appreciatively.

The banquet came to an end at 1:30 a.m. by the singing of "The Lone Star and the National Anthem."

GIVEN RECEPTION OF TRUE ESTEEM

Not So Much Cheering, But It Was All Very Heartfelt and Sincere

WAS MET BY BIG CROWDS

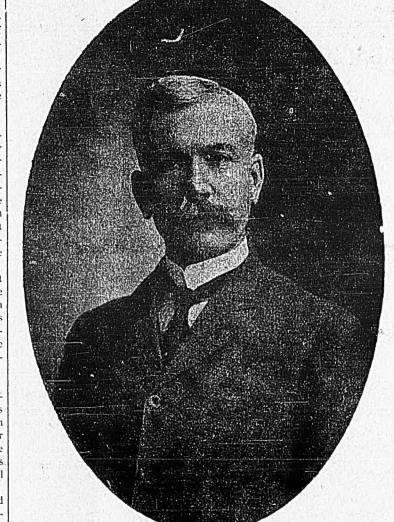

Lieut.-Governor Buley and Premier Sifton Took Laurier From Station

No public man would have cause to complain of the welcome that was accorded Sir Wilfrid Laurier last night. True, it may not have been like the usual reception which he has received, but the marked absence of cheering, the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and such tribute, were replaced by a more sincere expression of esteem, admiration and respect. Several thousand people congregated at the C.N.R. station and as many more thronged the route of the procession to see the man who guides the destinies of a nation, and directs it along the proper path to prosperity, to see the man upon whose shoulders is borne the responsibility for many great works which the men of his mind has designed, and which he thinks will work out to the advantage of the country, which he has served continuously for fourteen years, with mind, body and soul.

The Arrival of the Train

The special train which bore the Prime Minister and his party was half an hour late in arriving, and there was a long tedious wait for many who had gone to the station at 5:30 or so. At about 7:30 a whistle in the distance announced the approach of the special and put everybody on the quiver. In the meantime the crowd had been forced back by the city police to a line about 200 feet from the platform.

At the train came to a standstill Lieutenant Governor Buley stepped on board the Prime Minister's car and the two could be seen exchanging greetings through the window of the library apartment.

Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, who was a guest of honor at one of the banquets last night.

Was Photographed

In a few minutes Lieutenant Governor Buley reappeared and was followed closely by the Prime Minister. As the Premier stepped on the platform the massed bands in the centre of the square played "O Canada," and an audible click of cameras told that the kodak fiends had got in their deadly work.

Sir Wilfrid was then introduced to the reception committee, Sir Wilfrid meeting each one, besides many citizens on the platform, with a hearty handshake and his famous sunny smile.

The Prime Minister, then, at the instance of Hon. Geo. P. Graham, who remarked that he was a friend of all camera men, posed for the newspaper photographers, afterwards stepping into the government house carriage, followed by Hon. A. L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta, Lieutenant Governor Buley and Hon. Frank Oliver.

The Parade

After all the other carriages were occupied, according to previous arrangement, the parade of the Hon. Edward Hotel started, headed by four members of the R.N.W.M.P.

The route of the parade was much longer than had been arranged. It passed all the way down First street to the government house carriage, followed by Hon. A. L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta, Lieutenant Governor Buley and Hon. Frank Oliver. The route of the parade was much longer than had been arranged. It passed all the way down First street to the government house carriage, followed by Hon. A. L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta, Lieutenant Governor Buley and Hon. Frank Oliver.

AT PORT SASKATCHEWAN

Port Saskatchewan, the old garrison town of northern Alberta, gave the Prime Minister one of the happiest receptions of the day. The sun was sinking and the afternoon had become much cooler than earlier in the day, when the special train pulled into the Port. The train has been announced in Edmonton to arrive at seven o'clock, and there was plenty of time at the Port to spend a leisurely half hour. The party was taken in motor cars and carriages to the exhibition grounds, where the addresses were presented and the speeches were made under a gaily festooned tent fronting the grand stand.

The presiding official was Mayor Ayles and the address from the corporation was read by the secretary-treasurer, Thomas Stacey. An address in French was also presented by Mr. Parads on behalf of the Lamoureux Liberal Association. Despite the eloquent labors of the day the Premier was in felicitous mood and made eloquent replies in English and French on the sentiments contained in the addresses.

He paid a marked tribute to the R.N.W.M.P., of which, since he became Premier of Canada, he was the commanding officer as president of the Privy Council. He was glad to see their worth was recognized in Port Saskatchewan where they made their headquarters.

The address presented by the citizens of the Port was as follows: "On behalf of the inhabitants of Port Saskatchewan and a considerable portion of the electoral district of Victoria, Alberta, we extend you a sincere welcome to this part of the Dominion of Canada."

"We voice the genuine sentiments of the various religious bodies and the opposing political parties comprised amongst those for whom we speak, when we express to you our great admiration for the services you have rendered this Dominion."

"For thirty-nine years you have been actively engaged in political life, for twenty-seven years you have been the leader of a great political party, and for fourteen years you have been the Premier of Canada, truly an honorable record."

"The enthusiasm with which you have been received during your present tour through the Western provinces has clearly demonstrated to all the great hold you have upon the hearts of the people of this country. The head of the state on more than one occasion, with the approval of the whole Empire, has shown deserved appreciation of your statesmanship. Your great abilities have been recognized by some of the greatest and oldest states of learning in the world. Your virtuous life commends itself to all."

"It is our intention to stimulate the interest of the people of this locality in Canada's International Exposition to be held in Winnipeg in 1913, so that they will reveal to the outside world the products of a district which in the past has been known chiefly by the fact that it contained the barracks of the North-West Mounted Police, whose great services are now historical. This exposition will provide the best proofs of the growth and growth of Western Canada, with which you have been so closely identified."

"In conclusion we wish you fully to appreciate the pleasure it is for us to have you with us; we are honored by your visit. We wish you health and happiness, and that you may be long spared to retain the respect and regard of your fellows, who when you pass to the 'undiscovered country from whose house no traveller returns,' will remember that this life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that Nature might stand up and say to all the world, 'This was a man!'"

IS A YOUNG MAN'S COUNTRY AND YOUTH'S OPPORTUNITY

Hon. George P. Graham Expressed His Sentiments at Banquet Last Night

WAS A GLORIOUS AFFAIR

Fred Pardee, Chief Liberal Whip, Was Also a Guest of Honor

The banquet last night given by the Old Boys of Lecler, Greenville, Dundas, Strmont and Clegary to the Hon. G. P. Graham, M.P., Minister of Railways and Canals, and F. Pardee, M.P., Chief Liberal Whip, was in every way an unqualified success, and some of the most interesting speeches have been heard in Port Saskatchewan were made after the excellent dinner which was served by the Cecil Hotel.

Many "Big" Men There

At 10 o'clock the guests of the evening arrived and the company sat down to dinner, about two hundred present, among whom were: Hon. C. W. Cross, Hon. Duncan Marshall, President M.C. of the Board of Trade, Hon. Premier Rutherford, Mayor Lee, Senator Roy, Mr. Pardee of the Bank of Montreal, Maj.-Gen. Carstairs, Mr. Charles May, Mr. Hotchkiss, Mr. Fred Walker, Mr. Walker, M.P., and Mr. T. MacNamara. Mr. J. Dunlop was in the chair and the vice chairman was Mr. Joseph A. Clarke. After the toast of the King had been proposed by the chairman and been duly honored, the toast of the "Province and City of our Adoption" was proposed by the chairman, and the Hon. C. W. Cross rose to reply.

Cross Replies for Alberta

Mr. Cross expressed great pleasure in being asked to join the Old Boys of Ontario in welcoming Mr. Graham and Mr. Pardee in their midst on the occasion of their tour through the west. Years ago when he was at the Toronto University he had heard all about the kind of men who came from Lambton and the other places and he was very pleased to be allowed to join them in welcoming Mr. Graham and Mr. Pardee.

Mr. Cross then went on to say how very proud we ought to be of Mr. Pardee and Mr. Graham and that he would think Sir Wilfrid Laurier very badly advised if he did not include Mr. Pardee in his next cabinet.

Edmonton

He then spoke of Edmonton and its position as the capital of the province. Some years ago, he said the Dominion of Canada was said to be keeping too close to the United States and to be getting too closely bound up with them. Nearly all the capitals of the Provinces were located within thirty miles of the States, and in the choice of capital for Alberta, it was put before Sir Wilfrid Laurier that it was the opportunity to show the world that Canada was a big country, and locate the city somewhere near the centre.

"The Premier is a very clever man and you have got to have a good argument to convince him, but we had the argument," said the speaker.

Hudson's Bay Railway

"I would not be a true Westerner," he said, "if I did not take this opportunity, while Mr. Graham and Sir Wilfrid are in the West, of pointing out the necessity for the Hudson's Bay Railway. It will revolutionize industry. Why, it would only take one mile and two cool nights to reach Fort Churchill. It will be the means of opening up one of the finest countries in the world."

The Peace River Country

"And there are several other projects that we are interested in. One is the river route, another is the opening of the G.T.P. to Prince Rupert. Also I wish to draw Mr. Graham's attention to the fact that Canada is advertising all over the world for settlers, telling them of the free land that is to be had, but there is no land for homesteading south of Calgary. This is a waste of the best of the north, the country from which the vast wealth of Canada is to come—the Peace River country."

"What we want is a railway through that country straight on to the Pacific Coast. The grain trade will move with the opening up of the Panama canal and I believe that the trade instead of going east as it does now, will go west and Edmonton will be on the direct trade route."

"Mr. Graham and Mr. Pardee are, if I may say so, what we call 'young and husky' and they would be very heartily welcome if they saw fit to come to the west. They need no trouble about constituencies—why, some days we have one and some days we have another, but when the elections are over we are all united to work for the common good."

Mayor Lee

Mayor Lee replied to the toast of Edmonton, dwelling at some length on the growth of Edmonton during the last twelve years and speaking of the improvements such as the high level bridge, which would come within the next year or so.

Mr. Fred Brown then proposed the health of "Our Guest," Mr. F. Pardee, M.P. for Lambton. There were many prominent men who had come from there said Mr. Brown, the Hon. George Brown, the Hon. Alex. MacKenzie, Mr. James F. Lister, better known as "Fighting Jim," who would not stand for anything but the most honest government, and who afterwards occupied the position of judge of the Court of Appeal in Ontario. The Hon. D. Parlee was another who had upheld the great principles of Liberalism, and who would have been Premier in the local House if he only had lived, and Mr. MacKenzie, who had been asked to become a member of the House.

"Hon. F. F. Pardee?"

"I hope," said Mr. Brown, "that the next post-hol will go to a Lambton man and that when next we meet Mr. Pardee, it will be as the Hon. F. F. Pardee." Concluding Mr. Brown said that the great success of the Laurier party was the way in which they got next to the hearts of the people.

Fred Pardee Speaks

Mr. Pardee rose to reply and was greeted with a storm of applause. "Surely we have been received in the West in a way which exceeded all our anticipations. This I can really say for the most pleasant function of all that I have been at. In the true Western spirit you have treated us as Old Boys and made us feel our welcome amongst you almost with thoughts of home. We have come on a pilgrimage to see the West, and for me this is the first time. Having seen it I can say that the West is wonderful, I can even put it stronger and say that the West has got me. The East has hardly comprehended what the West is as yet, and we have come to see for ourselves the position of this country at the present day."

He Came, He Saw, He Is Conquered

"I have made speeches in the House of Commons, on the West and now I realize that it would be a criminal waste for anyone to be in the House without knowing the West. I came, I have seen, and I have been absolutely conquered. You are inclined to think that the East must give way to the West I want to say that you must realize that the interests of the East and the West are identical, and one will not get on without the other. You want many things out here and you ought to get them. But I must say

IS YOUNG MAN'S COUNTRY?

In all due deference, that I think that the East has borne the burden of the West and helped to build it up and without the East the West would not be what it is now. If your demands do not come at once you will realize that all interests have to be considered, and that still everything will come in time. You ask for tariff changes—they will come eventually. Rome was not built in a day. Now I am not taking the role of lecturer, I am simply speaking from impressions that I have received. We are proud of the East. It owns Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Hon. Geo. Graham, and laying aside all party feeling and offer as you may as to opinions, there never was a better Canadian with the interests of Canada more at heart than Sir Wilfrid. We have had many leaders before and some of them have come from Lambton. They have always been honest and upright and given the best in them for their country.

"Kipling has said the 'East is East and West is West and never twain shall meet,' but already in Canada we find that the East and the West are meeting in bonds that are insoluble and that will bind the country into the proudest nation in the world."

Optimism

The health of the Hon. Duncan Marshall was then proposed and Mr. Marshall made a short speech, saying that he knew Mr. Graham very well and knew the way in which he had won his way into the hearts of the Ontario people, and how wise a choice Sir Wilfrid had made in selecting him. Turning to the question of the future of Alberta he said that optimism was the quality that was going to make the province a banner one, and optimism was the quality that the people of Alberta had.

Joe Clark Proposes Toast
Mr. J. A. Clark then proposed the health of the Hon. G. P. Graham, M. P. for Brockville.

"I have the greatest duty of all the speakers tonight to perform," said Mr. Clark, "for I have only to mention the name of Mr. Graham and then sit down to ensure the success of my speech." The speaker then went on to talk about the success Mr. Graham had made of what he termed "that white elephant, that gold brick," the Intercolonial Railway, and when the Premier retired and someone else had to take his place he hoped that Mr. Graham would be as close to him as he was then. Mr. Cross was at that time sitting next to Mr. Graham.

Were It Last Night
"Were it tonight, were it now we're with the Chief we're not; so now we're having things all our own way. When we're with the Chief we're nobody," was the way Mr. Graham began his exceedingly humorous speech.

"Tonight I have been mentioned as having been born in several countries. That, I suppose, is accounted for by the fact that my father was a Methodist parson and I took my birthplace from the name of the station we happened to be passing. As a matter of fact I was born in the House and the place may be all right in spite of that. I should like to thank Mr. Clark for all the nice things that he has said about me and had I his eloquence (hear, hear from Clarke) or as firm a seat as Major Cairns I could perform my duties in the House with great deal better. My anticipations for a pleasant evening have been more than fulfilled. You have given me a real welcome and a charming evening."

Charles Is Young Yet
Turning to Mr. Cross, who said that he was glad to see he was not guilty of getting old, fast—"It does me good to hear them call you Charlie. I don't like the 'Tom and Dick' during elections and then a cold 'How do you do' when everything is over and the seat gained."

Marshall Has Made Good
Speaking of Hon. Duncan Marshall he said that he had made good. Some people had a habit of buying horses and fixing them up and then selling them, but Mr. Marshall had a habit, he had heard, of buying newspapers and fixing them up and he made a good job of it, too.

A Big Programme
"Mr. Cross has outlined a big programme," said the speaker, "and doubtless the railway into the Peace River must be built some time as well as other railways going north from Edmonton. Edmonton is on the highway from the Orient to Liverpool. It is also a fine city which appeals to us from the east, more than the neighbouring cities, and its towns and there is no doubt that the Ontario people felt that they were in a country more like home, than if they were out on the prairie, when they started to settle here."

"This is a young man's country, and in public affairs we must look forward from the young man's point of view and keep looking forward. Mr. Marshall talked of optimism, but I would rather have one optimist, than forty-seven thousand pessimists. We must have optimism if we want to advance and develop. If you make up your minds that this country is going to be the best part of Canada and that Canada is going to be the best part of the Empire, it will be so."

"The feeling between the Old Country and Canada is better since it was discovered that it could produce men like Laurier. We were looked on as a possession of the Empire until Canada helped in the Boer war, but after that when the young Canadians showed what they could do, Canada began to be talked about. We're not the Empire's property. We're part owners in the greatest Empire in the world. The Prime Minister of Canada says that of England on an equal footing and they confer together, but we never would have our country as anything but a part of the Empire."

"We must use the energy of our young men, never mind if they do make mistakes, the man who never makes a mistake never does anything. Their interests and ours are tied up together and so with the Empire. There is a great deal to do in the West. The government has done a considerable amount of work, but the real work has only just commenced. We want facilities to get the people into the country and when they are in, to get their product to the market. Do not think that anyone can complain of the way the government is spending money on the railways. Last year twelve millions was spent on the Transcontinental and the G. T. P. alone and I defy any business man to show how the money could have been invested better. Every cent that we can save on the transport of wheat means money in the pockets of the producers and makes a great difference to the people. You know they say that had the C.P.R. come through Edmonton it would have been a much better line."

The Kind of Men and Women

The prosperity of the nation depends upon the men and women, do not think that anyone can complain of the way the government is spending money on the railways. COAL AT CLOVER BAR

J. J. Deman, who is connected with the Clover Bar Coal mine, recently discovered a scam of coal in the banks of the Saskatchewan River directly opposite the Clover Bar Coal mine, and on taking a few samples he sent them to the assay department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who have forwarded the following analysis: Iron oxide 59.15; metallic form; manganese dioxide 1.26; alumina 6.23; lime 1.60; magnesia 0.39; phosphorus pentoxide .39; sulphuric anhydride .29; moisture 3.15; silica and gangue .28, total 95.60. The ore is described as "Ironstone ore," and is stated to be particularly good for that class.

The seam found is 8 to 18 inches thick and it overles the coal seam very regularly with a clay deposit on top. The seam, however, is not thick enough to mine.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY FINED.

For Violating the Canadian Immigration Laws.
Sarnia, August 8.—The case of the Grand Trunk charges against the Grand Trunk by Inspector Herbert for violating the immigration laws, evidence in which was taken up to 10 o'clock Saturday, a verdict was given imposing a fine of $50 and costs in each case. The evidence showed that the men had been supplied with the money necessary to enable each to show $25 to the immigration officers at Sarnia and gave receipts at the Port Huron tunnel station. The money was given back by the men at the Sarnia station after they had passed the immigration inspection. Out of the fourteen who gained admission in this manner the inspector secured the arrest of thirteen and the fourteenth one, Ogle Thorpe, has not been secured. In view of the fact that the men had been under arrest three days they were told to go on suspended sentences and were escorted out of the country by the immigration officers.

APPEHENSIVE OF TROUBLE.

Withdrawal of Troops from Columbus May Lead to Rioting.
Columbus, Ohio, August 8.—With the departure to-day of the last troops of the 3200 called out here because of the street car strike, and the opening of the saloons until 6 o'clock at night, the authorities are apprehensive regarding possible rioting to-night. The strike has already cost the state over $100,000 and the city is now at an expense of about $1600 daily for extra policemen who are guarding the cars. No negotiations were made to-day for a settlement of the strike.

Tell an unworthy man that he is himself, and you have sufficiently stigmatized him.

WILL KEEP PROTECTIVE PREFERENCE

(Canadian Associated Press)
London, Aug. 9.—The C. P. R. amended offer in connection with Quebec Lake John has been approved by debenture bond holders.

The Standard says it is merely his optimism which compels Laurier to estimate that the complete abolition of protective duties could be accomplished in two or three generations. Reading the full reports of the Premier's speeches, the Standard does not see one trace of evidence that Canada will abandon its policy of protective preference.

If affection were the same as originality genius would be commoner than commonplace.

STOP BETS ON ELECTIONS

Georgia Has Now Prohibited This Form of Speculation

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 9.—Betting on elections became illegal in Georgia today when Governor Brown signed the anti-betting bill just passed by the Legislature.

The House passed an anti-lobbying bill which now goes to the Senate. It also passed a drastic white slave bill, the penalty for violation of which is imprisonment for from one to twenty years.

The measure has yet to pass the Senate.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

He started forward. "Wait, wait!" he said in a loud whisper as she sprang back. But the voice seemed to startle her the more, and before he could reach her she was gone. He heard her flying steps descend the stair and the opening and closing of a door.

The sudden flight jarred Hugh's pleasurable sense of novelty. He thrust his hands deep into his pockets. Now he was in for it. She would alarm the house, rouse the servants. He should have a staring domestic audience for the imminent reconciliation his sobered sense told him was so necessary. Shuddering his shoulders, he went quickly down the stair to the library.

He had known exactly what he should see there—the vivid girl with the line of fright in her cheeks, the host of "Waiters" of the parlor, but a figure of character and pathos, springing through youthful pride and spirit. The undisturbed eye as never had seen, for those walls bounded her special domain.

When Hugh went shamefacedly up the stair from the library the artificial glow that had tinged his finger tips had faded. The pulse of mind, the certitude of all the faculties of eye and hand that his boy had given him, were yielding. The penalties he had disdained were returning re-enforced. He was rapidly becoming drunk.

He groped his way to his room, turned out the light, threw himself fully dressed upon the bed and slept the deep sleep of deferred intoxication.

Chapter 3

ON A June day a month later Harry Sanderson sat in his study, looking out of the window across the dim summer haze of heat, negligently smoking. He could see the long white road leading in a broad curve between clover stippled meadows, to skirt the willow green bluff above the river. There, miles away, on the high bank he could distinguish the railroad bridge, a long black skeleton spanning "the hole," a deep, fish haunted pool, the deepest spot in the river for fifty miles.

"My son!" he cried, shaded lamp, the wheel chair and the feeble old man with his furrowed face and gray mustaches. What he himself should say he had not had time to reflect.

"The figure in the chair looked up as the door opened. 'Hugh!' he cried and half lifted himself from his seat. Then he settled back, and the sunken, formidable eyes fastened themselves on his son's face.

Hugh was melodramatic—cheaply so. He saw the girl start at the name, saw her hands catch at the kimono to draw its folds over the bare white breast, saw the rich color that flooded her brow. He saw himself suddenly the moving hero of the story, the tragic figure of the situation. Real tears came to his eyes; tears of justice, feeling, due partly to the cheap whisky he had drunk that day, whose outward consequences he had so drastically banished, and partly to sheer nervous exaltation.

"Father!" he said, and came and caught the gaunt hand that shook against the chair.

Then the depths of the old man's heart were suddenly broken up. "My son!" he cried and threw his arms about him. "Hugh, my boy, my boy!" Jessica walked to him, her eyes shining with gladness and dawning with the sudden recollection of her bare throat and feet, she slipped away to her room to creep into bed and lie wide eyed and thinking.

What did he look like? Of his face she had never seen even a counterfeit presentment. Through what adventures had he passed? Now that he had come home, forgiving and forgiven, would he stay? He had been in his room when she entered it with the roses—must have guessed, if he had not already known, that she was blind. Would he guess that she had cared for that room, had placed fresh flowers there often and often?

Since she had come to the house in the aspect Jessica had found the imagined figure of Hugh a dominant presence in a horizon lightened with a throng of new impressions. The dreful catastrophe of her blindness—it had been the sudden result of an accident—had fallen like a thunderbolt upon a nature elastic and joyous. It had brought her face to face with the revelation of mental agony, made her feel herself the hapless martyr of that cruel thing called chance. She had always lived largely in her own pictures, and her world was still full of ideals and of brave adventures. Grief had made her love the narrow old larval with his crabbed tempers, and the wandering son, choosing for pride's sake a resourceless battle with the world—the life of mystery and his whereabouts—had taken strong hold of her imagination. Of the quarrel which had preceded Hugh's departure she had made her own version. That he should have come back on this very night, when the disturbance she had dreaded had been so nearly consummated, seemed now to have an especial and an appealing significance.

Presently she rose, slipped on the red kimono, and, taking a key from the pocket of her gown, stole from the room. She succeeded a stairway and unlocked the door of a wide, bare attic, where the moonlight poured through a skylight in the roof upon an unlit bedstead. In this state she had begun to fashion in her imagination the figure of Hugh, her conception of the ideal—no—not the battered and

THE CHILDREN'S CAUSE

"It's not a bad boy," said the matron of the Children's Shelter, "but he never has seen anything good."

It is doubtful if the true story could be more tritely expressed in regard to the average delinquent child.

The Children's Aid Society has the interest of such children at heart; and every effort is designed to lift the delinquent child to realize his inheritance as a Canadian citizen, to give the dependent child, the orphan or half-orphan, a chance to grow up in a real home.

To say that last year 750 children passed through the Children's Aid Societies of the province is still wide of the mark, for the helping hand of this society has been extended to a much larger number.

What Are We Doing?

Well, to begin with one feature of the work, the Children's Shelter of this city today holds 17 children—three babies and the rest all capable of using a pair of shoes to move or least, a pair of trousers. The penalties he had disdained were returning re-enforced. We are a young province, but we have made a start in the right direction, and that includes you, because every worthy citizen contributes to the making of Alberta. Begin with the children, turn out an army of good children from the homes and the schools, equip them for the effort and the object of true living and what will be the result?

Boys! Girls! Could You Spare

Now if you would visit the Shelter at 47 Cameron street and see for yourself the dear little children whom death and misfortune have left so helpless, your heart would be forever won over to their cause. We are not starting; we are not yet equipped as we hope to be and just now we are so much in need of a dozen rag babies (china babies will smash their heads), of a few boys, one or two girls would be splendid even if they were made of spoons—you know what children love!

We Need Bedding

Then we need some bedding. The matron of the Shelter has three babies. Has some person one baby carriage no longer required, and has some one else a go-cart? If you will phone to No. 2567 we would be glad to call for them. Then these babies could get fresh air and sunshine, and there's nothing they need so much of, and nothing which will better their foundations of health. Everybody should be healthy in Alberta. In fact every child is justly entitled to health as his birthright. These little folk have not all received their birthright!

Funds Desired

The local society is in need of funds. One dime in time may save some child. Every man in our penitentiary today was at one time an easily moulded child.

Mr. Alex Stuart, K.C. president of the Children's Aid Society, will be grateful to receive cheque or other notification from any person who wishes to help our children.

Drop in and see the little ones for yourself.

MAKING THE HAY CROP VALUABLE

We venture to say that through mismanagement our farmers much more than half of the general hay crop is put up each season in a very badly damaged condition, and is almost worthless as feed. We deem the labor connected with the harvesting and storing of this crop much too arduous, coming as it does, in the heated season of the year, to have it stored into stacks and mows in a generally bad condition.

We always start in time upon this crop, be it clover or timothy, or mixed grasses, to get the greater bulk of the crop made with the force at our command before it becomes over ripened or damaged by storms. Rain storms have but little effect upon the hay crop standing in the fields while it is in its prime, and in proper condition for making into good provender, but let it stand for a few days before it has passed out of the prime stage and storms will quickly render it worthless.

We always aim to start and cut while the dew is off usually after three o'clock in the afternoon; just what time can be put in the hands of good shape the following day. Thus we get our cutting done when the hay is dried out, and the ground well dried upon which the grass lays. Early the next morning the tedder is started, and if the crop lays very heavy in the swath, the mowed down grass is kicked a second or third time, in order to thoroughly cure out every bunched particle.

We aim to manage the hay crop and weather together as nearly as possible, and not have more than we can easily get under control. If a few swaths must be left out, it is better and pitched under waves, or scattered and loaded with the loader next day. We do not want it left in the swath to become bleached by the dew and sunshine of the following day.

Then it is not all in the field that makes the work of haying successful. At the barn we aim to fill two mows alternately every few loads, and not tramping it solidly into the mows, alternating every few loads, much hay as possible, dump load after load into a big mow and when taken out is badly now burned and must.

Common sense in moving hay is the best preventive of this evil. The hay being in large mows reminds this loss greatly as the hay is taken from the load well distributed, and is thrown into the mows in a very nicely scattered form, much better shape than the horse fork, which in the hands of a careless man hammers bunch after bunch into the mows, pounded down so tightly that it can scarcely be separated by the workmen.

We never drop two bunches of hay in the same place, which we are sure that the workmen have are sure that the workmen have bunchingly distributed the preceding bunch.

We never advocate tramping into the mows unless it is very dry and brittle, when it piles up rapidly. In this condition it is known to be over cured by sun and rain or dew, and is not turned good feed, at least in our view. We think we know what a good palatable bunch of hay is, and we are sure that if placed carefully into the mows in that condition we have the finest appearing feed, which is eaten with relish by our stock, and we take pleasure in handing it out to them. We are sure Geo. W. Brown, in Toronto Mail and Empire.

TWAS TURNED ABOUT.

Man at Land Office Had Friend Sleep at Door for Him.

It is one thing to sit all night outside the Land Office, but quite a different thing to be comfortably in bed while another man does it for you. This is what Mr. Moritt had done for him last night, when a friend kept his place so that he might have the first opportunity to get possession of a homestead which he had but given up some years ago. Mr. Moritt is a tailor plying his trade in a shop on

First Street; before which he had a homestead which he gave up for some reason and now wishes to regain. The all night watcher had not the slightest idea where the homestead was or why he had given it up before, and was simply doing the sitting up for the little that was in it for him.

When it was suggested to him that the land office would not be open this morning, he rubbed his hands with glee at the thought of the many who had come to spend the night there also and had suddenly remembered that the office would not be open, and had gone home.

"But it will," said the watcher. "It takes an order in council from Ottawa to close the Land Office, so Mr. MacKenzie told me."

EMPIRE THEATRE.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright," the opening attraction of the season at the Empire and the first under the new management was put on last night by the Sherman Musical Comedy Company who will play repertoire here for several days. The audience was large and very appreciative. "The Wrong Mr. Wright" proved to be very enjoyable and contained numerous bits of sparkling humor. The cast was also very good, each player deserving much individual praise for the way the roles were acted.

Tom Beeson, who did the comedy work, is especially worthy of note, and his line of Irish humor kept the audience in fits of laughter throughout.

Heretofore matinees will hardly occur at the Empire, which will appeal strongly to ladies and children, and if the Sherman Company put up a first class show, the one which occupied the boards last night they can be assured of bumper houses throughout the engagement.

MODERN LIFE WOULD BE TOO HARD ON THE NERVES IF IT WERE NOT FOR WANT ADVERTISING!

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, upsets at home and office, losses, discouragements, seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace of mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore to him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the want ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for us.

Truly, the want ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

About Town

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the Y.M.C.A. on Third Street. A prayer meeting will be held and a large attendance is desired.

The journalistic party who are accompanying Sir Wilfrid Laurier on his Western trip include many of the brightest young newspaper men of Canada. They will be entertained this afternoon to an auto ride throughout the city and surrounding country and afterwards will be given an informal luncheon at the Elks' Club by the Board of Trade and local newspapermen. The members of the party are as follows:

H. B. Cooke, Toronto Star; F. W. King, Toronto Mail; E. H. Guest, Toronto News; H. Anderson, Toronto Globe; H. Wilton, Toronto World; C. D. Robertson, Toronto Telegram; R. H. U.F.A. WAITED ON PREMIER cattle guards.

The delegation consisted of Messrs. D. W. Warner, R. Sheppard, Geo. Long, F. H. Herbert, W. J. Jackson, G. E. Palmer, Geo. Sulley, Philip Oattemel, Wm. Keith Thomas Hallam, Jos. Weeks, and Francis Clare.

The delegation presented resolutions from the Edmonton Board of Trade, and from the Sturgeon and Clover Bar Farmers' Associations.

The delegation impressed upon Sir Wilfrid the point that they were not petitioning for themselves only, but to show, especially in the case of the chilled meat industry, that there is a unanimity of opinion throughout the west on the matter.

Sir Wilfrid gave the delegation a courteous hearing, and stated that the resolutions would be given due consideration on his return to Ottawa.

With Sir Wilfrid were Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Frank Oliver, F. F. Pardee, M.P., and E. M. MacDonald, M.P.

pearance and called for the admiration from all quarters. Each station had taken particular pains that the reels from their camera would outline the others with the result that they were all on their best appearance, and were seen at their best. The fire department was headed by Chief Davidson.

Some one made the remark to the street that there were never before so many "top" hats and frock coats seen on such an occasion in Edmonton. The peculiarity is that each and every one who sported the old rags had a hat, shaped different from anybody else and in the cut of the "frocks" this was also noticeable. It was said that Ald. Gariepy easily carried off the palm for having the best outfit. Everybody will now be rushing to Ald. Gariepy to find out what Parisian tailor made the clothes.

The celebrations had no effect on the Chinamen, several were seen carrying up and down Jasper with their white sacks under their arms evidently looking for their daily task, their faces showing no trace of excitement.

Numbers of small boys made quantities of money selling souvenir badges of the Premier's visit. There was quite a difference between the souvenir wearers and the unsouvenir, the former looking upon the latter with disdain and feeling quite official with their badges.

Nearly every roof in town carried a party house, and seriously near the edge people could be seen looking over to witness the procession. Nor was this confined to the men, numbers of the fair sex ventured aloft regardless of the climb and the heat. The most venturesome of the lot were the small boys who stood poised on the roof of the Merchants' Bank building.

The country cousin element was especially prominent opposite the King Edward Hotel and father and mother and all the children were there in full force, their faces aglow with excitement and their minds wide open.

Known to the thousands were in evidence. Every second person had a camera of some size or shape, and were craning their necks for a point of vantage from which to "snap" Sir Wilfrid as he went by.

An incident rather pathetic, but in some ways amusing occurred when the Premier's carriage was passing along Jasper west. A woman, all alone, with enthusiasm stamped on her face, pushed through the crowd and bravely waved a little Union Jack to Sir Wilfrid as he passed them. Having done her homage, she contentedly made her way back.

There was great excitement and almost a battle among three Germans at the corner of Jasper, first as to which was the Hon. Frank Oliver and which was the Hon. Arthur Sifton. Eventually it went have been settled satisfactorily, as the guttural sounds died away and peace reigned over the German colony.

A prett feature of the procession was the presentation of the second bouquet to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by Cece Laura Asher, accompanied by several of her school companions. This was presented opposite the United Aids' offices, 560 Jasper Avenue, east, with a short sympathetic address which reads as follows:

"Welcome, Sir Wilfrid! Kindly accept this small token of esteem from myself and little schoolmates, who have been told so much of your greatness, and kindly convey our love to your good lady."

For the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition, August 23 to 26, 1910, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company will have in effect special fares.

SCENE AT MUNDARE WAS PICTURESQUE

Premier Laid the Corner Stone of the New Ruthenian Church There

SIX OXEN DREW LAURIER

To the Church, While the People Sang Their Wild Ruthenian Songs

Back along the weary length of railway traversed by the Premier yesterday in his first day in the Province of Alberta, is the village of Mundare, a Ruthenian community. This is where it happened there, Sir Wilfrid stopped at six places in all, after leaving Lethbridge in the morning, where he received an address and made his reply before 8 p.m. But none of these places produced anything of note, except—Mundare.

Had Three Yoke of Oxen They had a heavy farm wagon, equipped with seats and furs, in waiting for Sir Wilfrid. In it they drove him slowly to an eminence behind the village where a new Ruthenian church is being built. It was to lay the corner stone.

A strangely garbed young priest met Sir Wilfrid at the place. He made an address in broken English expressing the people's appreciation of the freedom in Canada. A choir of the girls suddenly lifted its shrill treble in a weird chant. The rough Ruthenian farmers in the crowd took to the harmonies, and to that uncanny music Sir Wilfrid declared the stone "well and truly laid."

A Remarkable Picture It was when coming away that the whole scene, as a remarkable picture of Canadian life, assumed its most picturesque aspect.

Down the road toward the depot came the six oxen, slowly, steadily, and lowing in deep protest. In the front seat of the wagon sat the white-haired Premier, and behind him his conferees. At the sides of his conveyance, rode mounted men while behind and on every side followed the village, like children following with implicit faith their leader. The dust from their plodding feet had obscured them and as they marched they sang wild Russian peasant songs, that set one's fancies rioting and stirred strange sympathies in the hearts of those that listened.

It was the song of the oppressed of an oppressed country, but the people, humbly following the wagon, seemed to sing it rather as a relic of old days as an interpretation of the new days here in their new land. At the depot the priest climbed on a rain-barrel and led off in another chant which was still making the full of sadness when the train pulled out.

A Child's Kiss

One of the Premier's party dropped a shiny coin into the palm of a shy little tot of six years, one in a chorus that sang the National Anthem. Quick as a flash, with a grace that would shame our more brusque race, the mite caught the hand that made the gift, and brushed it with a child's soft kiss. The great politician scarcely knew what to do. He showed his embarrassment in his face. The little girl had many years to go before she would learn that kissing people's hands is a pretty custom, which the new race she lives amongst, does not understand.

A baseball game was played this morning at Second Street grounds between J. H. Morris Co., and Beas and Hoar. The result was 9-3 in favor of Morris and Co.

Ran For Help.
